

Editorial

Dear colleagues,

With the first issue of the 2024, we would like to express our sincere gratitude to all colleagues, both authors and readers, and industrial companies who had great contributions to our journal.

As we start 2024, let us take this opportunity to reintroduce our journal with recent changes we made. Considering the demands from our colleagues and changing scope of our journal, our journal's name was revised as a "Turkish Journal of Clinical and Experimental Ophthalmology" to fit in our journal's expanding scope. We will be publishing articles on cataract and refractive surgery, cornea, glaucoma, pediatric ophthalmology and strabismus, oculoplastics and neuro-ophthalmology from now on.

As you might know, since 2020 our journals have been published in English as open-access, e-journal and will be published in the same format. You can easily have access to articles via www.gazigoz.org and www.glokomkatarakt.com.

We wish you a happy and healthy new year ahead and hope you enjoy the first issue of our journal.

Kind regards,

Editors of Turkish Journal of Clinical and Experimental Ophthalmology
